

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system comprising at least one connector provided with a connecting means enabling connection of the at least one connector to at least one connected element to form a structure comprising at least one discarded object.